

A New Company Is Taking Structured Cabling To New Heights.

We are Molex Premise Networks. You've never heard of us before, but we're a company you'll be hearing a lot about.

As Mod-Tap, we pioneered many innovations in structured cabling. Now, as a part of Molex, a $1.6 billion international leader, we offer global, state-of-the-art manufacturing facilities, some of the industry's best engineers and a relentless commitment to the one thing that matters most to you—the integrity of your data.

This worldwide commitment includes a total solutions approach — from integrated cabling and fiber optics, to office outlets, patch panels, racks and a global end-to-end warranty program. We design it all to help you meet the dynamic challenges of the ever changing networked organization.

So if you want to take your network to new heights, there's one company you can count on to get you there — Molex Premise Networks.
